Ellen Hartman, '37, was revealed as Homecoming Princess at a rally held on the campus this morning.

The Princess, who will reign over festivities of the day, including the football game, banquet, and dance, is a member of Phi Delta Psi sorority.

She is outstanding in University activities, serving as president of Sigma Tau Delta, national honorary English fraternity, and as student member and secretary of the Board of Publications.

A former editor-in-chief of The Gateway, Miss Hartman last year edited the Tomahawk, student yearbook. In addition, she is a member of the German club and of the International Relations club.

As vice-president of the junior class last year, Miss Hartman spoke at the 1935 Homecoming banquet.

C.B.S. to Feature Literary Series

Johnson, English instructor, is a member, a series of literature programs will be given during the coming year over 90 stations of the Columbia Broadcasting system. The programs of interest to Omaha students are:

October 20: An interpretation of Keat's "Ode to a Grecian Urn," by Max J. Herzberg, followed by an interview with Stephen Vincent Benet, with readings by Mr. Benet.

November 10th: A radio version of "King Richard the Third."
November 24th: A radio version of "Romeo and Juliet."

December 8th: A poetry choir from Central High school, Newark, New Jersey, followed by an interview with Whit Burnett, editor of "Story" magazine.

"German Literature" Is Topic Of Address

"New German Literature" was the subject of Professor Helmut Boeninger's speech at the Deutsche Mittag club meeting held at the Rome hotel Thursday.

Regents, Faculty Reception To Be Held November 5

A special reception for parents, students and patrons of Omaha University will be given by the University faculty and the board of regents in the Blackstone hotel, Thursday evening, November 5.

The purpose of the reception is to give parents and friends of the University the opportunity to become acquainted with the faculty and the members of the regents' committee.

Members of the committee, of which Dr. Benjamin Boyce is chairman, are Mrs. Rene Stevens, Dean E. A. Holt, Dean L. M. Bradford and Martin Bush.

School of Future Described By Dr. Betzner In Speech

Speaking on "The School of the Future," Dr. Jean Betzner of Columbia University, at the invitation of the Department of Education in co-operation with the Elementary School Principals' association, gave an address at Central High auditorium last Friday.

The invitation to Dr. Betzner, prominent specialist in primary and kindergarten education, and professor of elementary education at Teachers' college, Columbia University, is the first to be extended by the Department of Education. Frances Wood, professor of education, has been a student in a number of Dr. Betzner's classes at Columbia.

ANTHES CLAIMS CONSPIRACY IN PRINCESS VOTE

Members of Council, Greeks and Barbs Express Opinions

Strained relations between Barb and Greek organizations on the campus reached a climax with the close of the polls for the Homecoming election. Barb leaders were attacking both the Student Council and Greek organizations for what they termed a "conspiracy" on the part of council members and Greek organizations to elect a Greek princess.

Criticize Council
Bob Anthes, president of the Barbs, in condemning what he termed a violation of the council constitution, stated, "The Homecoming princess elected Wednesday by a small percentage of students is undoubtedly a selection of a minority, but it will never be known whether she would have been the choice of a popular, democratic election by the entire student body."

Greeks Divided
Greeks themselves were by no means united on the question. Edgar Howe, president of Phi Sigma Phi and council member, believes that the council placed a wrong interpretation on the constitution which states that the Student Council is to have control over all elections. Other Greeks were more emphatic in their views of the situation. (Continued on Page 5)

President, Group Representatives To Speak Tonight

President Rowland Haynes, class members, and representatives of the board of regents and of the faculty will be speakers at the Homecoming banquet at Jacobs Hall this evening at 6 o'clock.

Macy Baum, toastmaster, will introduce H. A. Jacobberger, speaking for the board of regents; S. L. Witman, associate professor of government, representing the faculty; Frank Heinisch, the alumni; Betty Malm, freshmen; Leonard Kurtz, sophomores; Wade Knapp, juniors; and Amy Rohacek, seniors.

Each campus organization will have its own table. Ladies of the Immanuel Baptist church will serve.

Betty Majors, student council president, is chairman of the banquet committee.

Omaha Again Invited to Submit Choices for Rhodes Scholarship

Omaha University has again been invited to submit candidates for the approval of the Rhodes scholarship committee. No limit has been set for the number of applicants from the school, but candidates must be endorsed and recommended by the head of the University.

Final candidates from this section will be chosen from Nebraska, Minnesota, South Dakota, Iowa, Missouri and Kansas.

Will Start Building On New 30-Acre West Dodge Street Site TO SPEND $1,000,000

Omaha's greater Municipal University campus will be located on acreage just west of the Dodge Street entrance to Elmwood Park, between Dodge Street and the park, it was finally announced this week by the University board of regents.

Twenty acres for the site have already been purchased at a price of $2,250 per acre, and negotiations are now under way for securing of additional acreage to the west. The site is now partly occupied by a golf range. The final site will occupy 30 acres.

Building Program
Accompanying the regents' announcement were plans for an extensive building program over a period of ten years. Total expenditures, to be made on a pay-as-you-go basis, will amount to nearly one million dollars. Financial aid from the federal public works administration will be solicited. The University now has 300 thousand dollars in its site and building fund. Fifty thousand dollars will be added before the end of the present fiscal year.

Science Hall First
First of the new buildings to be constructed will be a new science hall costing between 200, and 250 thousand dollars. Science classes and laboratories will be scheduled for the afternoon so that students (Continued on Page 5)

Three Students In "Libel" Cast

Paul Brawner and Jane Epplen, former Omaha University students, and William Morris, '40, have parts in the Community Playhouse production, "Libel," presented this week.

Dr. V. Royce West is a member of the board of trustees of the Omaha Community Playhouse, now in its twelfth year.

Feathers Club To Sponsor Carnival; "O" Club Assists

A 1936 carnival, to be sponsored by the Feathers club, assisted by the "O" club, will be held in Jacobs Hall November 14.

Entertainment will consist of fortune telling, fish ponds, and bingo and dart games. Admission is to be ten cents with an extra charge at each booth.

To holders of lucky numbers of five-cent tickets to be sold two weeks before the carnival, prizes will be awarded.

The carnival will begin at 7 p. m. and will last until 12, according to Virginia Lee Long and Lillian Damask, who are in charge.

To The Future

With the long-awaited announcement of the selection of the site for the University of Omaha, the visualization of a new, a bigger, and a better college approaches physical reality.

Every student in the University rejoices that this problem has been settled; that the first step in the future development of our school has been taken. For a new campus and adequate buildings hold promise of many advancements for the University.

First, there will be a great increase in enrollment. President Haynes estimates that within ten or fifteen years, the number of students may total four or five thousand. The new University will draw more out-of-town students than does the present one.

Moreover, that goal for which the University has so long been striving, admission to the North Central Association of Colleges, will undoubtedly be attained. Due to the present inadequate buildings, Omaha University has again and again been denied this acceptance.

Greek organizations have their hopes, too. On the new campus, fraternity and sorority houses may eventually be erected, with the probability of the groups becoming affiliated with national organizations.

Therefore, we are pleased for many reasons that the board of regents have at last made known their decision. We feel that an admirable selection has been made and that the University of Omaha is about to take its place among the finest schools in the land.

Making A University

What DOES make a university? The World-Herald and the Bee-News cannot for some reason agree. The Herald believes the true measure of a university's worth "is measured, not by a pretentious plant, but by its faculty . . .," while Ralph Wagner of the Bee thinks that "What makes a university . . . is a winning football team."

The World-Herald with its head in the clouds is searching for an ideal, but the Bee-News puts its feet on the ground and looks at the facts, and they don't have to travel a long way from home to find them.

Omaha University has by no means implied "a competition, on the part of this municipal school, with institutions with heavy private endowments or generous tax support" (Herald). In the report of President Haynes and the board of regents it was definitely stated that the University would not set up any professional schools to compete with Nebraska and Creighton.

Omaha University will be built to give a chance for college training to the 75% of

Thru the Keyhole

We're marching, we're marching. Oh, here comes our band. . . . Speaking of bands, have you made your plans for the big day of the year—HOME-COMING? We're all set, South Dakota.

Henry Medlock seems a bit elated (or perturbed) because his name hasn't been in the column yet this year. . . . Well, here it is, Hank. . . . How does it look in print? . . . Minnesota, here we came. . . . Novak, Belau, Medlock and Mangen. . . . having nothing but fun, and lots of it.

Everyone had a date with anyone at the Pan-Hel, and a few everyone's alone. . . . A swell dance, a swell place, and a swellant time. Seen and heard among those present. . . . Uhlenbrock and Glendora Hammond (she's among the best, people). . . . Incidentally, girls, did you notice how that boy Belau could follow? . . . Now's your chance, with only two months of Leap Year left. . . . The Hilarious Phi Sigs provided some amusement with those stunning hats. . . . luscious. And Betty Weiser with that swell dancer. . . . What's his name, Betty?

Announcement: The secret of Dancing Boy Baade's life. . . . Yes, it's always a woman, and you can't hide it, Carl. This fact discovered when Baade received a letter addressed to "Mrs."

Wonder how Roger Hughes' boiled shirt felt? . . . Some funny combinations, too. . . . Anderson and Cooper, Carson Rogers and Chris Nall, and lest we forget Amy's one and only from last year who made the grade, Hi, Lewis Leigh.

From all appearances the Pi O pledges must "Miss" the actives, or is that over your head? We also hear that certain of the pledge groups will wear their dresses backwards or have the Phi Deltas changed their minds? . . . We wouldn't know.

First Advertisement: Young man, good looking but not handsome. . . . brown eyes, brown curly hair. . . . car (?) . . . money. . . . good dancer, and footloose and fancy free desired. . . . Apply to Marge Disbrow.

Second Ad: Stuart Sadler wants a small girl (similar to Dee Carlson) not going steady. Line forms to the right.

Say. . . . has anyone else noticed the scarcity of Theta pledges this year? (Sarcasm.) It seems like every time you turn around you run into one of them.

Look, boys and girls. . . . have you been looking around for your dates to the pledge dances yet? . . . Starting from this week-end, there'll be 'nine' of them. . . . one right after another.

Seems as though Marge Corrington seems to do all right even if the "one man" is far away. . . . She's well dated up for weeks to come. . . . We also note a second year man is following Marge around. . . . Watch it, Fred.

This week seems to be John Kozak's turn with Ellen Hartman. . . . We just can't figure that girl out. . . . One time Pearey, next time not. And did you know that Casanova Kozak writes a confession to his little C. B. honey, Mary Pat Schaff, every time he goes on a howl? Relieve your conscience, or is it so that someone else won't do it for you, Johnny?

I see that Virginia Brown and John Miller are still hand in handing it this year. . . . A wonderful feeling, isn't it?

Harold Sorensen: The news is out that Marjorie proposed to a strange man the other eve. . . . Is there any truth to this rumor?

In response to many inquiries we now ask. . . . Who was your date last Friday nite, Janis? . . . Quite a lad from all reports.

What's the fatal attraction, Novak? . . . Were those five girls in your car just to see the fire or was it to fix that flat tire? We suggest that all wishing to ride with Novak eat Grape-Nuts for strength. . . . Paging Popeye, also.

That's all there is. . . . there isn't any more. . . . we're off to the day's festivities. . . . we'll see you tonite.

high school students in Omaha and Council Bluffs who never go to college. Just because a number of these students are not financially able to go to larger, better equipped universities is no reason why they should be denied first class modern equipment. They deserve the best and it should be the duty of every citizen in Omaha to see that they are given the best.

And lastly, since Omaha University can give just as good training in arts and pre-professional work and in many cases better than neighboring institutions, it is the duty of the board of regents to obtain for Omaha University a fair share of the students who go to college.

"Poverty Flats" Home of Fourteen Ambitious Gridster-Housekeepers

"Who threw that shoe in the dish water?" "Hey, Rex, throw that guy out on his ear!" These and similar cries echo along a certain corridor above the post-office at Twenty-fourth street and Ames avenue, where practically the entire football squad "hailing from all points of the compass" is bunked. They call the place "Poverty Flats."

Living in real style, but with discipline ruling, fourteen men are lodged in eleven rooms. Two rooms at the further end of the corridor serve as kitchen and mess hall. A room at the other end overlooking the street is used for a study hall, and is furnished with a radio, chairs, a table, and a lounge. The radio, say the boys, produces great concentration. Along the corridor between these extremities are the rooms where the athletes get their beauty sleep.

"Lights are out at eleven every night," volunteered one of the boys. "And there aren't any exceptions, either—except," he retracted, "on Saturday nights. Then it's every man for himself." "Yeah," pipes up "Wild Bill" Kulper, who comes from Lincoln, "Saturday night's the night of freedom. But when we do get to bed, it takes an acrobat to swing up to those upper beds. The only reason Lieber sleeps below is that he eats so much at night he can't make it to the upper berth."

When meal time comes, one of the boys, who has been previously appointed, gets the meal. Another washes the dishes. It seems that extreme common sense has been used here to avoid unnecessary squabbles over the manly art of dishwashing.

"No, we don't have bacon and eggs," emphatically declares Hux Bachman of Crawford. "For breakfast we have cereal; for lunch we get anything we want, which happens to be soup; for supper—aw, heck, we flip a penny." Chimes in his pal, Kritner, "Yep, we believe in quantity, not quality."

One of the boys confided that eggs (a la poached) are indulged in only before a football game. Incidentally, they are all sure that Omaha has already won the football game this afternoon.

The boys who reside at this unique place are Middlekauf from Wahoo; Boldenow, Bloomfield; Kulper, Lincoln; Riggins, Malvern, Ia.; Crawford, Omaha; Lieber, Council Bluffs; LaMantia, Council Bluffs; Perkins, Ft. Dodge; Olson and King, Council Bluffs; Schmeckpepper, Bloomfield; Bachman and Kritner, Crawford; and Tyler, Shenandoah.

Reasons Asked For Attendance

Lincoln, Neb.—(ACP)—Do you know the predominant reasons that students attend certain universities? Surveys on this subject are always interesting even though they may not always be scientifically accurate.

Dr. S. M. Corey, professor of educational psychology and measurements at the University of Nebraska, made an extensive study of this question in so far as his own institution was concerned, and these were the answers, in the order listed:

- Recommendation of high school teachers and administrators.
- Proximity of the university to the student's home.
- Family influence.
- Prestige of the institution.
- Economy.
- Availability of desired courses.
- Influence of friends.
- "Of the seven students who gave 'influence of athletics' as their reason," says Dr. Corey, "five rank in the lowest psychological test and none in the highest."

STUDENT FORUM

Editor of The Gateway:

To many students it seems that the Student Council's action in conducting the election of Homecoming Princess was a distinct violation of the constitution of the Student Council and a positive discrimination against those loyal students who desired to help select their Homecoming Princess even if they did not have the 75 cents to attend Homecoming.

In the constitution of the Student Council appears the following:

Specific Functions

"It shall be the duty of the Student Council to conduct all elections in which those elected represent the entire student body.

Elections shall be held for the following positions:

1. Class officers.
2. Student members of the board of publications.
3. Homecoming day princess.
4. Maie day princess."

On Wednesday, October 14, the election for Homecoming Princess was held. Only those who had purchased tickets priced at 75 cents were allowed to vote. Thus the Student Council permitted a violation of its own constitution. Our Homecoming Princess is not the selection of the entire student body, but is the Princess of those who had 75 cents.

The Student Council should make a clear-cut decision to govern all future elections. It should be made clear whether the entire student body is all the students enrolled at Omaha University or is only those who have 75 cents. There have been many instances of paying people to vote, but charging people to vote is the brain child of the Student Council. Who knows—it may cost you $1.00 to vote for your class officers next year.

The Sigma Chi Omicron meeting was held last Monday evening at the home of Beth Campbell. Enid Crowder was pledged.

OMAHA FAVORED IN GAME TODAY WITH S. D. STATE

Cards In Shape After Open Date; Week of Hard Offensive Drill

After taking advantage of an open date last week by long hours of scrimmage and perfection of their running attack, the Cards are ready to do their share in making homecoming a success when they meet the Jackrabbits from South Dakota State on the Omaha U. field today.

Although the Cards are marked on the books as favorites, Coach Hartman warns that the Rabbits are greatly underrated and that his boys must expect one of the toughest games of the season. So far South Dakota has won two out of four starts, first beating Gustavus Adolphus 12 to 7, then losing to Wisconsin 24 to 7.

Morningside took advantage of the Wisconsin defeat and handed the Rabbits a 13 to 0 set-back. The Staters found themselves, however, when they whipped Luther college 19 to 6 last Saturday.

Coach R. H. Threlfall will have a squad of 30 men on the field, including 12 lettermen, with the weight average of both teams being almost equal. The chief Rabbit threat is Capt. Ed. Lienhart, veteran back, who has been piling up a good average in yardage. Other outstanding backs are Ware and Rousief; and the best in the forward wall are Stenson, Plyman and Mernaugh.

The Redbirds will be seeking their second conference win today to keep second position in the present North Central standings. The Jacks, who are in the cellar, will try for their first N. C. victory.

All Redbirds are reported in A-1 shape, with all minor injuries completely healed. The line-ups for the game will be as follows:

Omaha	Pos.	S. D. State
Sorenson	L. E.	Mernaugh
Gardner	L. T.	Plyman
Crawford	L. G.	Stenson
Johnk	C.	Lassen
Riggins	R. G.	Kloster
LaMantia	R. T.	Dragash
Kersenbrock	R. E.	Wicks
Tyler	Q. B.	Thompson
Kulper	L. H.	Ware
Boldenow	R. H.	Lienhart
Brown	F. B.	Barber

Cardinals Second In N. C. Standing

North Dakota university and North Dakota State, with no defeats, hold first place in the North Central standings. Omaha and Morningside are in a deadlock for second place with one win and one loss each, but the Cards hope to advance to a tie for first place or keep their number two position secure. The standings up to date are as follows:

	W.	L.	Pct.	Pts.	Opp.
N. D. S.	1	0	1000	18	13
N. D. U.	1	0	1000	19	0
Omaha U.	1	1	500	26	18
Morningside	1	1	500	13	13

IT'S IN THE CARDS

By GEORGE THREADGILL

Homecoming once again pays a visit to Omaha U.'s campus. Today the grads, old and new, will have a chance to see the new era of school spirit recently developed at their alma mater. They will see growth of a successful pep organization called the Feathers. They will be pleased to note the fine co-operation of the various student organizations, which is making the parade a success. Friday, they will discover that the school has abundant support for its team.

The grads will see the advancement of athletics when their alma mater's football team tangles with the South Dakota Jackrabbits at the University field this afternoon. The grads will, no doubt, be puzzled because of such a small squad on the field, but they must understand that this is due to the conference ruling eliminating freshmen from varsity competition.

Not to change the subject, but just a word about the progress made in athletics at Omaha U. since 1931. Since Sed Hartman became head coach at that time, the Cards have won 84, lost 23 and tied 5 major football contests. If you look over the past records, you will agree that this is a marvelous achievement. And as time marched on, the Cards joined the North Central conference in 1935, which is much tougher and faster than the N. I. A. league. With the help of Johnny Baker, the Cards developed power and speed and loom as one of the chief contenders for champions of the N. C.

The Cards' rise from the N. I. A. A. conference to the North Central Conference is one of the finest movements the team has made during its years of competitive football. This new conference not only provides stronger competition, but produces a better grade of football. Moreover, ranking is much higher than that of the state leagues. Well, anyway, Mr. and Mrs. Alumni, we may still be small, but we are mighty; and you can't keep a good school down.

Tyler in Second Place In Conference Scoring

Tippy Tyler, Omaha quarterback, is but one point behind Fritz Pollard, the flashy halfback from North Dakota U., in North Central Conference scoring.

Tyler collected 12 tallies in the Wayne game and 6 more in the initial game with North Dakota state. The leaders in the scoring column are:

Pollard—N. D. U.	19
Tyler—Omaha	18
Erickson—N. D. S.	12
Kersenbrock—Omaha	6
Wheeler—N. D. S.	6
Brandon—Morningside	6
Graves—Morningside	6
Brown—Omaha	2
Fondness—Morningside	1

Girls' Sports

W. A. A. entertained prospective members at a scavenger hunt Wednesday at Miller Park. Refreshments consisted of "galloping guinea pigs," apples and graham crackers with marshmallows and chocolate bars. Helen Mickna was in charge of the hike, with Miss Maurine Kelly, gym instructor, assisting.

The formal initiation of W. A. A. will take place the week of October 26, preceding a Halloween party for the new members. The committee in charge is composed of Evelyn Dansky, chairman, Lois Medlock and Alta Hirsch.

W. A. A. will close the sale of football-basketball tickets after the game this afternoon. The chairman of ticket sales is Ruth Grenville, who is assisted by all members of W. A. A.

Advance reports to the bursar's office show an increase of approximately 10 per cent in all steel equipment.

HEART BOMB

Dear Miss Mudburp:

I'm so baffled, and I know you'll just adore helping me—everyone does.

I'm engaged to an adorable young man who is violently in love with me. (Of course, you can understand that.) I'm considered awfully good looking, and all my friends say I've simply a sparkling personality. My family, and his, are the 400 kind—and both of us have gobs of talent, are terribly ambitious—with ample private incomes. I'm really frightfully in love with him, and I've already pointed out that naturally he's out of his head about me—so I know we'd be ex-cruciatingly happy.

Now, Miss Mudburp—for my problem. Shall I marry him?

Members of Work-Study Plan Earn, Learn Simultaneously

The accompanying cartoon does not truthfully depict the situation; nevertheless, it serves to attract your attention to this article, we hope. Each week it will be our endeavor to acquaint you with the work-study students and the merits of the work-study plan.

One of the first students to take advantage of the work-study plan of education at Omaha University was Roger Hughes. He is tolling daily at the U. S. National bank, but will return and enroll next semester as a senior, allowing another ambitious student to take his place at the shekel palace during his six months' leave of absence.

Hughes is at present affiliated with the collection department and has already acquired the air of a Rothschild. He has political hours (9 to 5 o'clock), which allow him plenty of time for shut-eye and other strenuous exercise. Although his brow is wet with honest perspiration during the day, Hughes says it's plenty nice to be able to attend college and still have some week-end coinage.

He is also carrying a night class at present.

Roger is 100 per cent in his praise for the work-study plan, and for Mr. Woods, director of this valuable service. The plan is allowing him to complete college and at the same time acquire valuable business training.

Director Woods is quite willing to lend a sympathetic ear to any college student who is finding the tough financial road a circular track, and is interested in the work-study plan.

may make the trip from the present University site at Twenty-Fourth and Pratt Streets after attending other classes in the morning. The street car company has promised bus connections with the new campus as soon as the project is under way.

Other buildings planned include a general recitation building, $350,000; library, $250,000; service building, $50,000; gymnasium and athletic plant, $100,000; and a student center, providing one is donated.

Another program being considered for after the ten-year project include a separate school of business administration, enlarged and modified engineering shops, a service research institute, and a special building for an applied arts college. No football stadium for the new site is planned, although a downtown stadium has been discussed.

Speaking of commercial establishments about the campus, President Haynes declared that a cafeteria and a soda fountain would suffice for the students.

President Haynes, in a special memorandum to the regents' report, envisioned the University's future. He estimates that within ten or fifteen years the University should have 1,500 day students, 2,000 night school students, and 1,500 in summer classes.

Plan Adopted For Teacher-Training

Education Department Head Announces New Program Based On Denver Plan

A new program for teacher-training is being launched at Omaha University this semester, according to Dr. Leslie O. Taylor, head of the Department of Education. The plan will follow one which has been in operation at Denver several years.

In accordance with this plan, after one semester of practice-teaching, one semester under the work-study plan, and one year of substitute teaching in the Omaha Public schools, a few students may become regular teachers in the public schools of this city.

Cites Importance

"I believe," said Dr. Taylor, "that this new development will prove very important and beneficial insofar as it concerns the relations of Omaha University and the city of Omaha. This plan will also aid greatly in establishing the pre-eminence of our University."

It is in connection with this innovation that the Monroe Experimental school has been established, with Dr. Donald E. Tope, formerly Head of the Department of Education at Iowa Wesleyan University, as principal. This school is available for the use of the Department of Education in the University of Omaha for observation and demonstration teaching.

Practice-Teachers

The following students are practice-teaching this semester: Harry Landis, South High School, Mathematics and Science; Eloise Johnson, Benson High School, Physical Education; Amy Ann Rohacek, Central High School, Dramatics; and Emma Beier, South High School, Social Science.

Pre-Med Meeting Will Be Postponed

Due to the fact that the first regular meeting of the Pre-Med club falls on Homecoming day, it will be postponed to a later date. All Pre-Med students and members of the club are asked to bear this in mind and watch The Gateway for notice of the meeting, according to Miss Nell Ward, sponsor.

TO THE EDITOR:

In order to clarify what misunderstanding there may have been of the action of the Student Council with regard to the Homecoming election this year, I would like to explain that the Student Council has followed the precedent set by the last and only two Homecoming Princess elections there have been on this campus by restricting the voting to holders of tickets solely in order to secure an adequate and dependable financial backing and a large attendance and participation in homecoming events.

A substantial majority of the Council are of the opinion that whatever statement in the Student Council constitution is made with regard to the conduct by the Council of certain elections, it is wholly irrelevant to the problem at hand concerning the Princess election.

The tactics of the Supreme Court seem to have been employed in reading into the constitution things which don't appear and obviously were never intended.

With regard to the discontent created, I feel it quite feasible to disregard this precedent when some assurance can be given that sufficient interest in homecoming has been aroused to eliminate the financial consideration and the problem of getting the student body interested enough in school affairs to want to support them.

though the majority of Greek organizations upheld the action of the council.

According to Amy Rohacek, president of Pi Omega Pi and member of the council, "the student council was entirely justified in allowing only ticket holders to vote to insure not only financial success, but to obtain record attendance at one of the biggest events of the school year."

"The action of the council," she continued, "was in no way political. Campaign activities of the Greeks and Barbs are completely outside the council's jurisdiction, and there are no grounds to assume that the council was playing politics."

In an interview between President Haynes and Anthes Wednesday, it was suggested that a student convocation be held soon to enable the student body to express its opinion on the matter so that disputes may be avoided in future elections.

Board Discusses Tomahawk Plans

At the first meeting of the Board of Publications last Tuesday, plans were discussed for the continuance of the Tomahawk, student annual, and the new members were welcomed by Dr. V. Royce West, chairman.

Both editorial and business positions on the Tomahawk are open to all students interested. Applications, which may be had from Dr. West or Ellen Hartman, must be returned before 5 p. m., Wednesday, October 21.

The new members of the Board are Francis Nelson and Ellen Hartman, students, and Dr. S. L. Witman, faculty member. Ellen Hartman was elected secretary.

Summing up the situation, Betty Majors, president of the council said, "The constitution has nothing to do with the matter as it gives us authority to conduct elections as we see fit; and we feel sure that both students and faculty, if necessary, will back us in our interpretation."

Famous Dancers Instruct at Vt. College, Where Miss Diamond Was Summer Student

Studying modern dancing under the direction of leading professional dancers of the country occupied the greater part of the activities of Miss Ruth Diamond, physical education instructor, during the summer.

Miss Diamond attended Bennington College, Bennington, Vermont, for a six weeks' course in the art of modern dancing. This college, an exclusive girls' school, is a well-known institution of experimentation in the modern methods of teaching. Situated in the Green Mountains, the college is an ideal place for the study of dancing, according to Miss Diamond.

Concerts were presented during the entire six weeks' course, highlighted by the appearance of the American Ballet company and the New Dance league. The course, divided into three divisions of two weeks, was taught by four instructors, including such dancers as Martha Graham, Doris Humphrey and Charles Weidman.

"It was a great experience to be able to study under each one of the professional dancers, during the course of such a short period. Indeed, it was far more beneficial than spending more time in each one of the individual studios," stated Miss Diamond.

Motoring to Youngstown, Ohio, Miss Diamond journeyed on to New York City by train and attended plays and concerts during the short week she spent there.

One authority on the campus, after hearing of the new site, remarked, "Homecoming grads will soon have a new 'home' to visit."
